1. On 18 August 1949, Capt. Chali Sindhusophon called on Phibul at his residence on Chilom Lane, Bangkok, to demand that full justice be done in the shooting of a Thai Marine by Thai Police.* Chali stated that the Thai Navy feels that the Police are delinquent in taking action and that they are seeking an opportunity to pigeonhole the case.
2. Chali was escorted by two jeeps loaded with armed Marines. Police guards at the Premier's home telephoned Police Gen. Phao Sriyanon and advised him of the strength of Chali's escort. No action was taken, however, since Phibul felt that any Police protection squad would result in a further straining of relations and might possibly end in an armed clash.
